LONGITUDINAL VIEW OF THE GREAT SHIP "SEEANDBEE"

To those who travel in summer seeking rest and healthful diversion, Nature granted a magnificent boon when the Great Lakes were formed. But to make this wonderful fresh water sea available in the fullest degree as a route to America's most noted recreation places, it was necessary to provide palatial steamers and operate them on convenient schedules. That has been, and is, the aim of The Cleveland & Buffalo Transit Company, and only those who have enjoyed a cool, restful trip on one of the Company's famous steamers can realize the full delight of summer touring.

The steamers of the C. & B. Line offer the tourist an ideal means of travel between Cleveland and Buffalo and an opportunity to break the monotony of a rail trip to Niagara Falls, Eastern or Canadian resorts. The same exceptional service is afforded to those traveling westward from Buffalo to Cleveland, Cedar Point or Put-in-Bay, while the line directly across Lake Erie from Cleveland to Port Stanley, Ontario, provides a short route to Canada points. Every effort has been made to adapt this service to the needs of the greatest number. Special arrangements for the carrying of tourists' automobiles have been made, for instance, and daylight trips between Cleveland and Buffalo and Niagara Falls, are scheduled for Saturdays during the greater part of the summer.

The reputation made for this Line by its steamers "City of Buffalo" and "City of Erie" could be exceeded only by a notable effort, but that effort was made successfully when the Great Ship "SEEANDBEE," largest and most costly passenger steamer on the inland waters of the world, was added to the fleet.

THE GREAT SHIP "SEEANDBEE"

This gigantic ship is 500 feet long; 98 feet, 6 inches wide, and her hull is 30 feet, 6 inches deep. She has 510 staterooms and 24 parlors, accommodating 1,500 passengers, thus equaling in sleeping capacity the largest hotels. There are seven decks, namely: Orlop deck, top tank deck, main deck, promenade deck, gallery deck, upper deck and dome deck. The ship's main shaft, 78½ feet long, weighs 120 tons and is one of the largest forgings ever made. Each paddle-wheel is 33 feet in diameter and weighs 100 tons.

The "SEEANDBEE," with guaranteed speed of 22 miles an hour, is a four-stacker, each stack being nine feet in diameter; her three cylinders are the largest on any Great Lakes steamer, two weighing 33 tons each and one, 29 tons. The air pump in her engine room is larger than the main engine cylinders on a 600-foot ore freighter. Each of her stockless anchors weighs 6,500 pounds. With engines developing 12,000 horse power the "SEEANDBEE" has 2,000 more horse power than any other side-wheel steamer on the Great Lakes. Her movable equipment would cover a 40-acre field. She has 4,500 electric lights.

In decorative features the "SEEANDBEE" is, perhaps, not excelled by any vessel in existence. The keynote of the whole scheme is rich simplicity and quiet elegance. In refinement there is nothing afloat that surpasses her. The Lobby is unusually spacious, quite as large, in fact, as the lobby of a large hotel, and it is here that the traveler gets his first impression of the similarity between the Great Ship "SEEANDBEE" and a first-class hotel. He finds a corps of courteous attendants eagerly waiting to make him comfortable. The Main Dining Room, a great room seating 200 persons, is immediately aft of the lobby on the main deck. Travelers greatly appreciate the location of this room, as it allows a fine view of the lake while dining. The Buffet is in tavern design, very much after the style of an old English inn, with tiled flooring, tiled bar, and leather-backed wall seats encircling the room. The buffet is reached by a stairway from the main deck aft.

The Grand Saloon, on the promenade deck at the head of the grand stairway, is a magnificent room more than 400 feet long. The Saloon has the height of three deck spaces and the ceiling bears a great mural painting. The Lounge is the most attractive feature of the gallery deck, and doubtless in the opinion of many the most attractive feature of the ship. This room, embracing the full width of the ship, is finished in Flemish oak of a light tone, with tables and chairs covered with Spanish leather. The Atrium, on the upper deck aft, is another favorite section of the ship. In this room the decorative scheme gives an out-of-door effect, which is most attractive.

On the ship are twenty-four parlor rooms fitted in a most luxurious style. Some have private balconies overlooking the water, and offer the greatest possible privacy and seclusion. Adjoining these parlors are sixty-four staterooms with lavatories. Then, there are the regular staterooms, each having one upper and one lower berth, running water and telephone. Upper and lower berth in each. The berths are wide and comfortable and have ventilated mattresses. Special attention has been paid to the ventilation of the ship, which is equipped with the latest system of washed-air ventilation.

CLEVELAND—SIXTH CITY

IN pursuing its aim to make summer traveling thoroughly delightful The Cleveland & Buffalo Transit Co. has added to its facilities a $500,000 terminal as large as the largest piers for ocean steamers and located in the most interesting section of Cleveland.

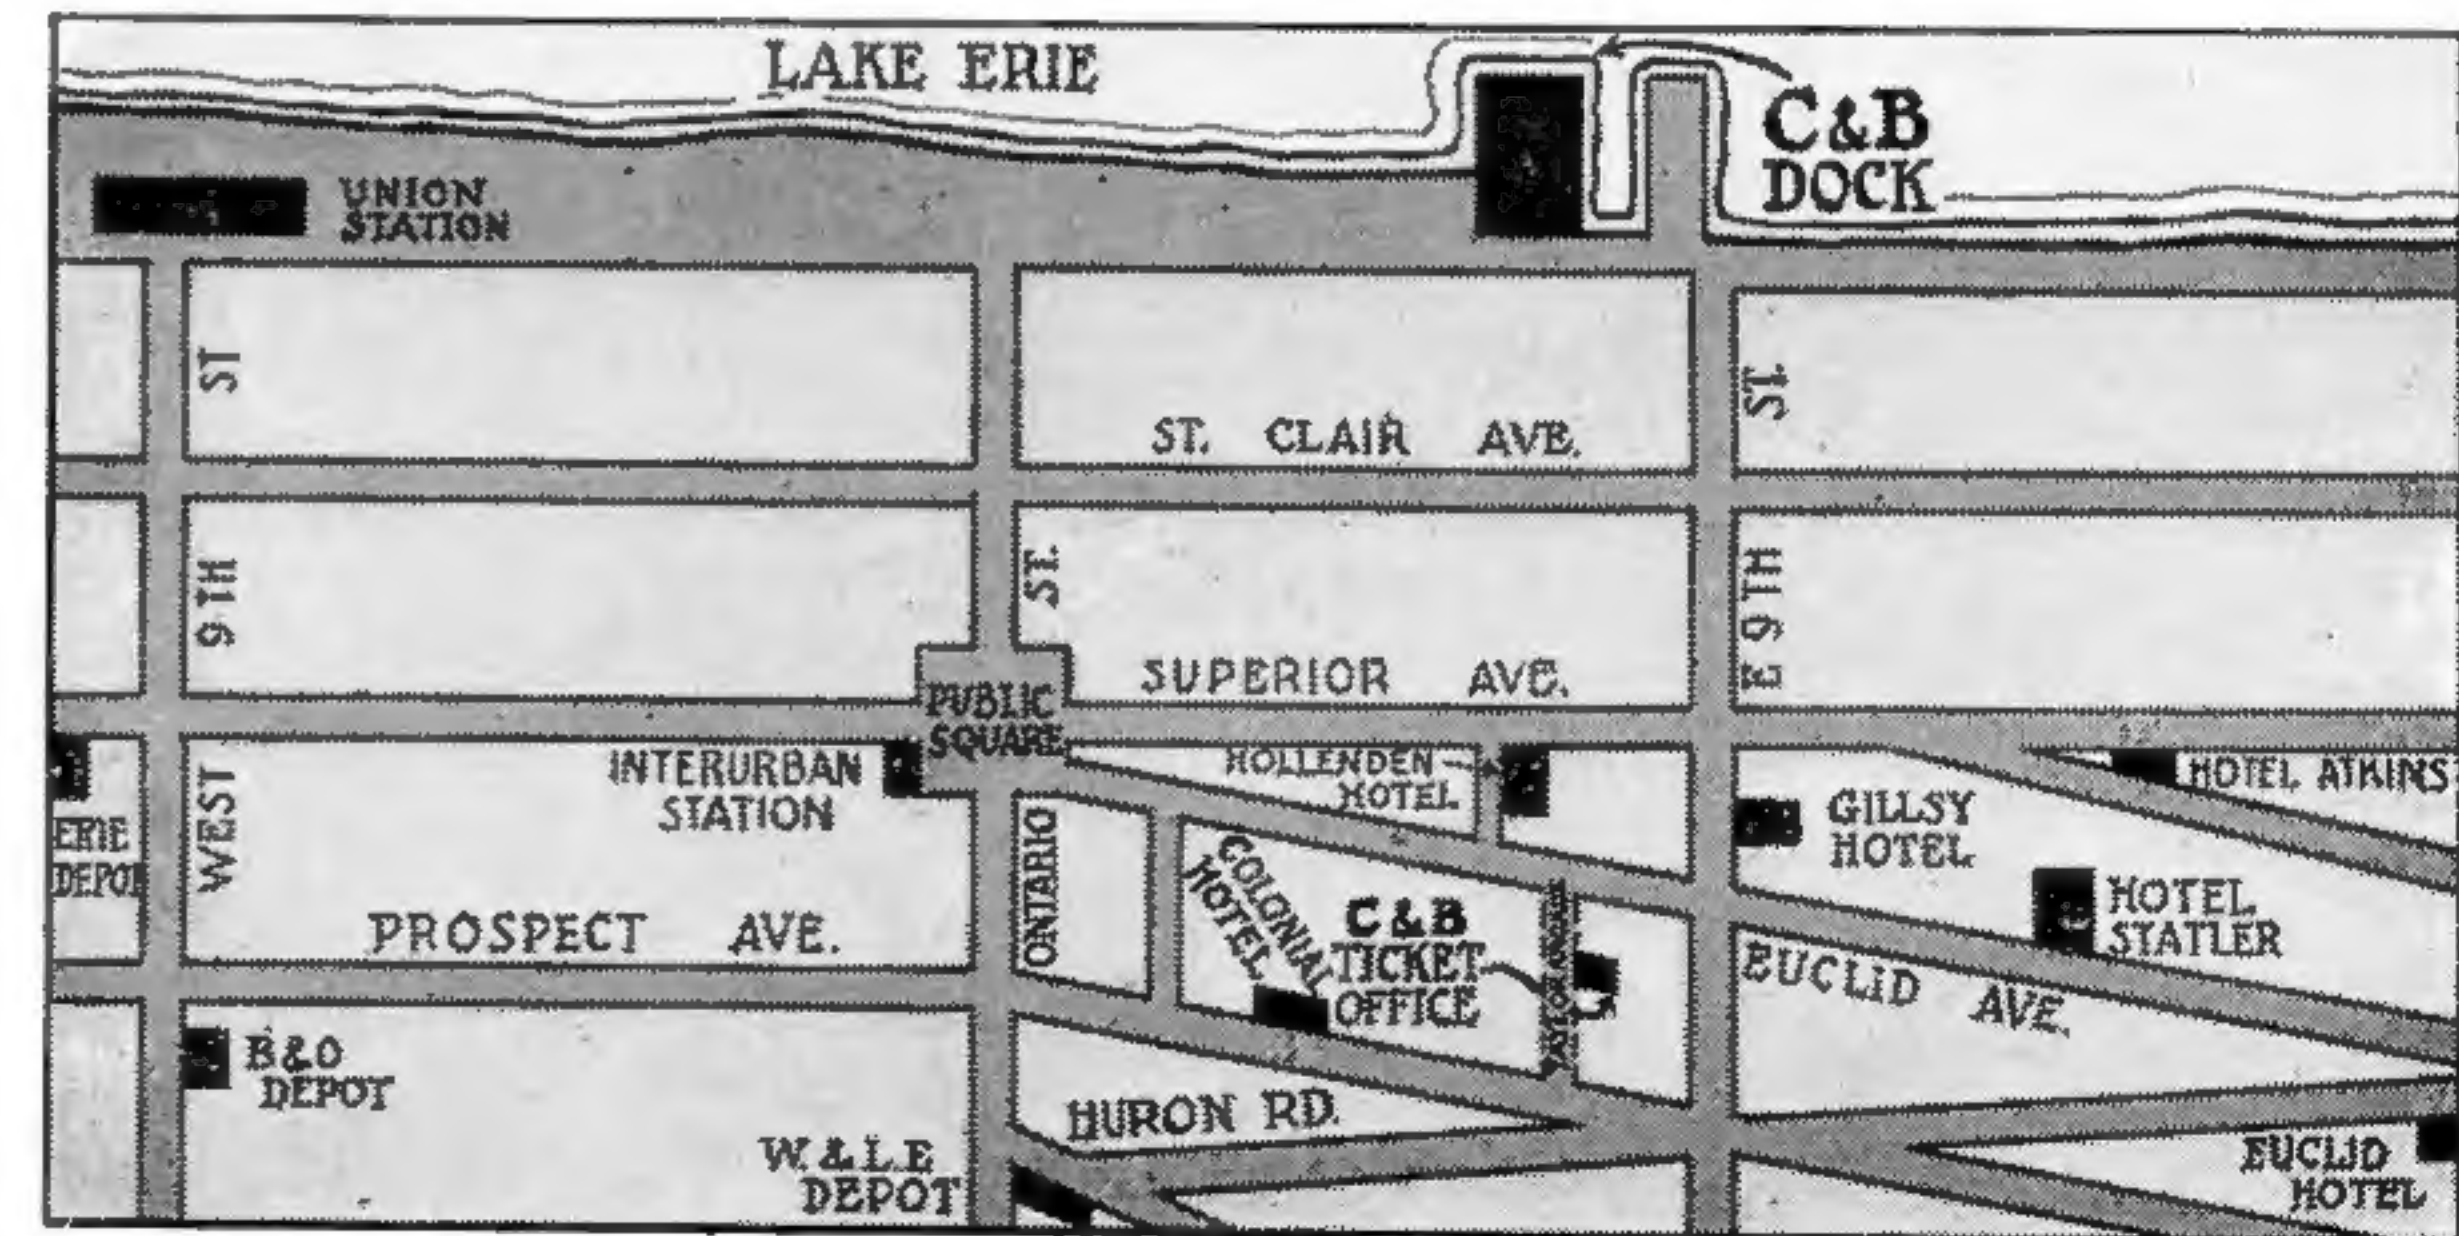

This new concrete pier at the foot of East 9th Street, just north of the beautiful buildings in the famous Cleveland "Group Plan," is 700 feet long and 300 feet wide. Its area is more than five acres and it has a frontage sufficient for docking five steamers at one time.

Double-track street-car lines run down East 9th Street to the dock, with a loop directly in front of the waiting rooms and ticket offices. This loop is used in the morning for parking sufficient cars to take care of all passengers, so that the passengers are able to reach the center of the city in ten minutes after the steamer has docked. Adequate street-car service to and from the pier is given during the day for convenience of day excursionists to Put-in-Bay and Cedar Point and during the evening hours for travelers to Buffalo and Port Stanley.

Passenger accommodations at the pier and the approaches to steamers are all arranged in the most modern way for the convenience and safe and quick handling of passengers, tourist automobiles and other freight.

To every one who travels on a C. & B. Line steamer this improvement in the company's facilities is a delight. The more accessible location of this pier and its pleasant surroundings as compared with the usual wharf district will be appreciated by those who take the trip eastward from the Sixth City, while the arriving passenger will get from the deck of the incoming ship an impressive view of the city on the bluff above the lake.

Cleveland has many attractions for the summer visitor—beautiful parkways and boulevards, an unusual pleasure resort at Euclid Beach Park and several bathing beaches.

BUFFALO—QUEEN CITY OF THE LAKES

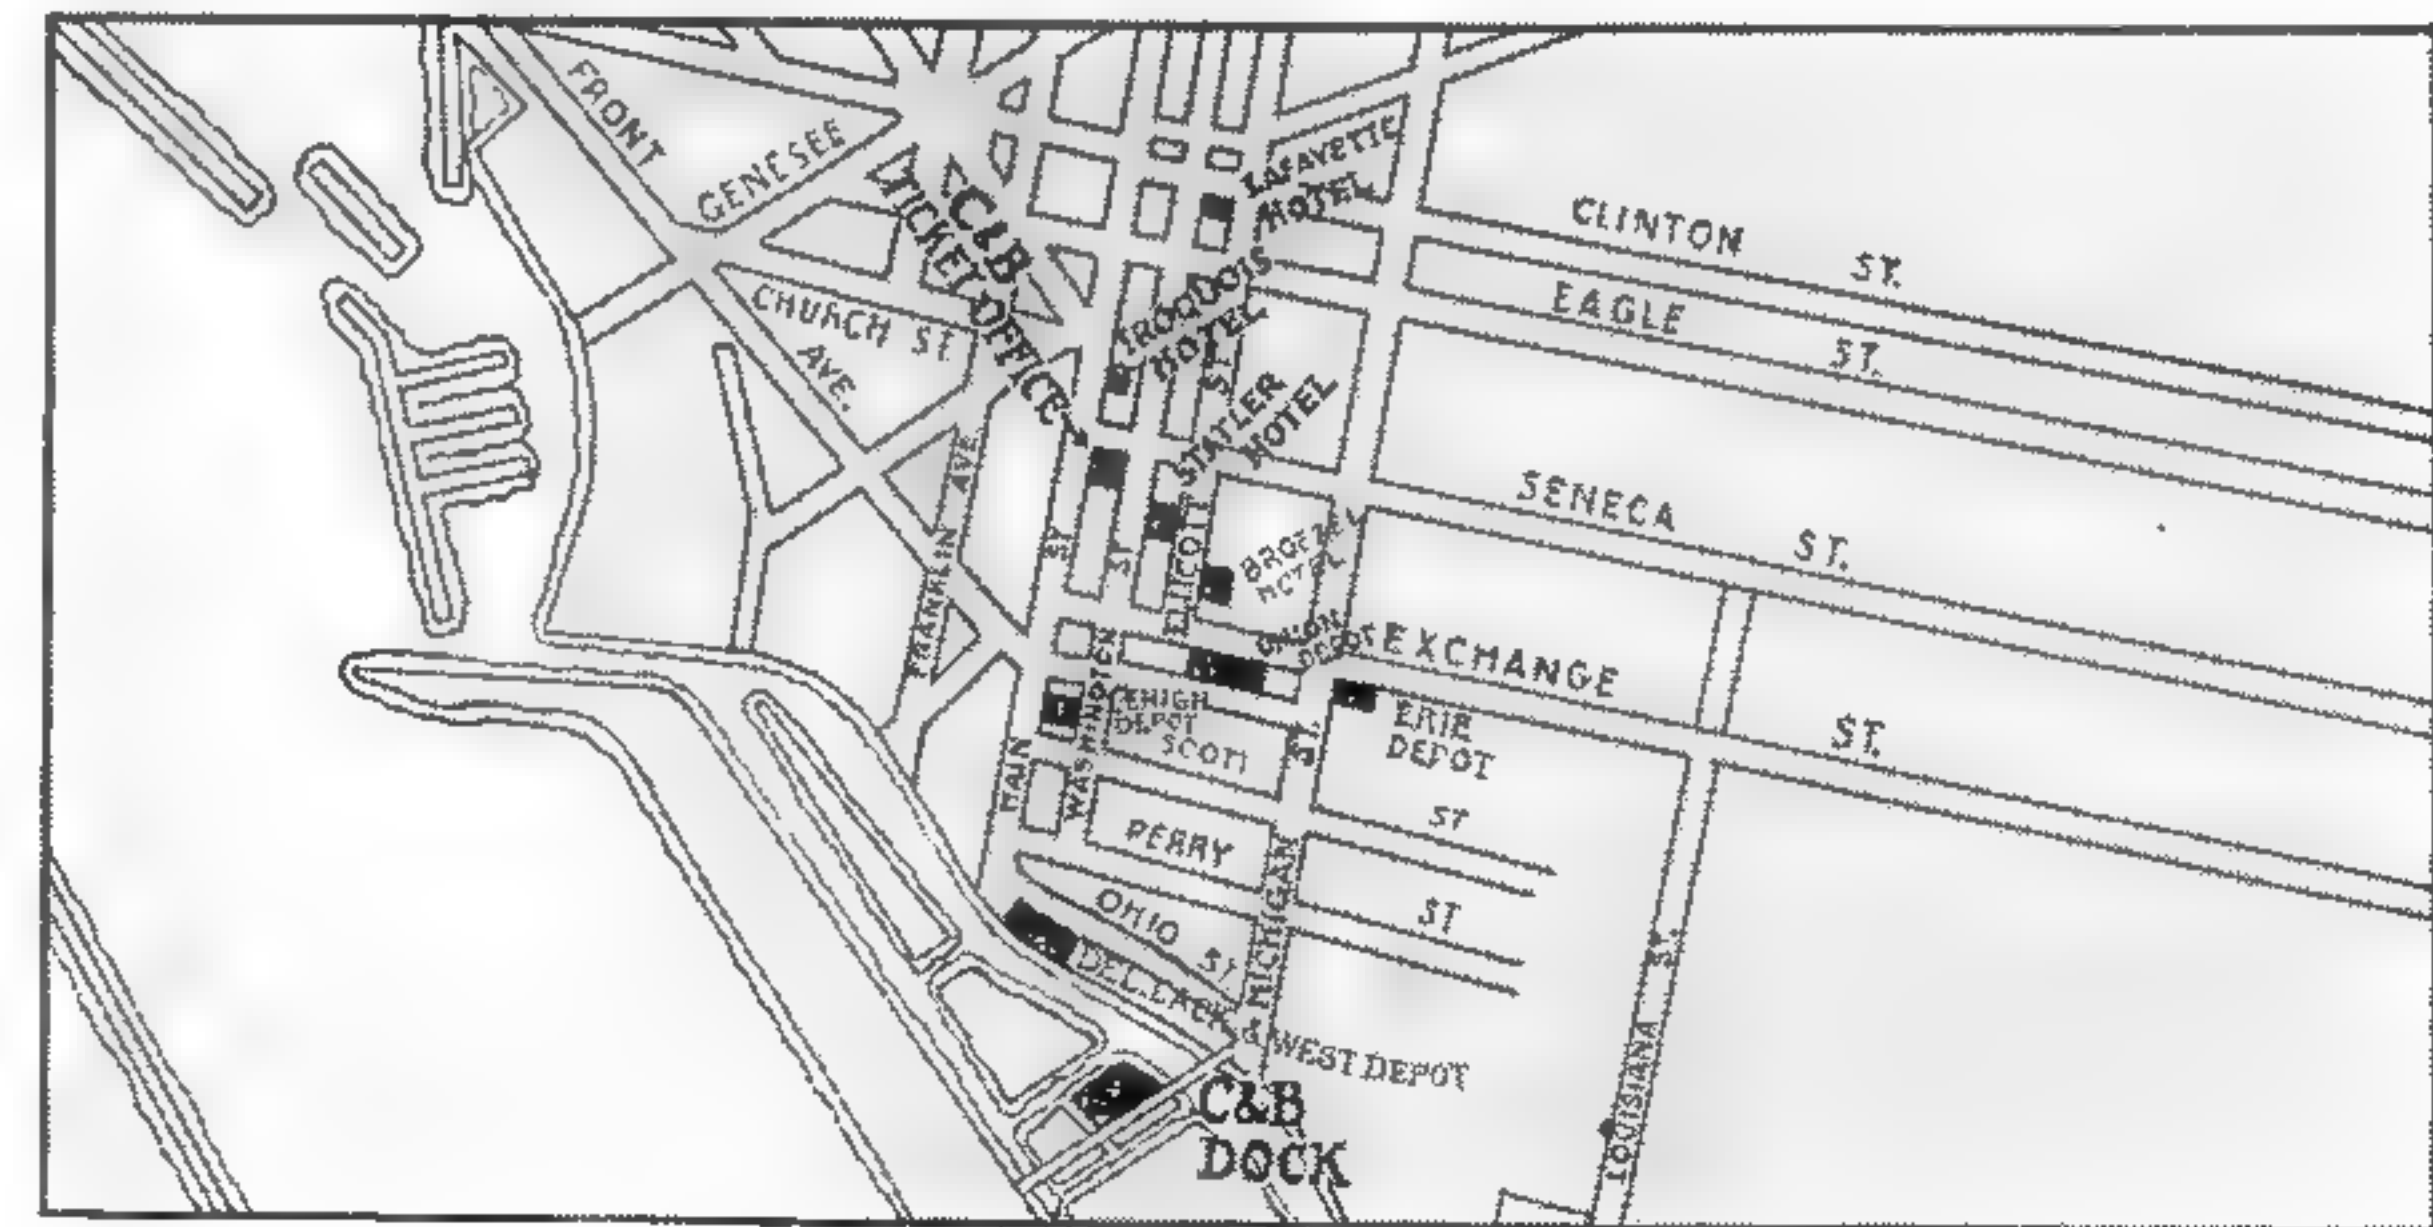

BUFFALO is the delightful gateway to the great summer resort sections of the Eastern United States and of Canada. The traveler bound for the Adirondacks, the Catskills, the St. Lawrence, or any of the other many resorts from the Jersey Coast to Northern Ontario, may well plan to visit the Queen City of the Lakes. The tourist from the East, also, will find from Buffalo a delightful route by the C. & B. Line to Cleveland and to resorts of the utmost attractiveness at Cedar Point and Put-in-Bay.

Niagara Falls is only a short distance from Buffalo and transportation facilities are of the best. Upon arrival of C. & B. Line steamers at their dock in Buffalo, trolley cars are in readiness to take passengers direct to the brink of the cataract, while the service is frequent throughout the day, on both the trolley and steam railroad lines.

Among the other resorts at Buffalo is Crystal Beach, a most delightful recreation ground. It is on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie and the trip by steamer from Buffalo is a joy in itself. The shore of the broad bay on which the resort is situated forms a superb bathing beach, while the great patronage which this resort has enjoyed for many years has made possible the building of an extensive amusement plant. The palatial Buffalo-Crystal Beach steamers run on convenient schedule from the foot of Commercial Street.

Buffalo is a city of beautiful homes, and Delaware Avenue is one of the famous residence thoroughfares of the United States. While it is an old street it has resisted, except in the down-town section, the encroachments of business. Along its shady length are scores of beautiful modern residences with others of earlier date. The old Milburn home, where President McKinley died; the Wilcox home, where President Roosevelt took the oath of office, and the old home of Millard Fillmore are on this street.

In Delaware Park is the famous Albright Art Gallery, one of the most beautiful in this country.

AMERICAN FALLS

CANADIAN FALLS

THE RAPIDS FROM THREE SISTERS ISLANDS

THE OUTLET OF THE WHIRLPOOL

NIAGARA FALLS

THE service of the Cleveland & Buffalo Transit Company gives travelers from points west of Buffalo a thoroughly delightful trip to that greatest wonder of the Western World, Niagara Falls. The C. & B. Line steamers arrive in Buffalo early, and as the run to the Falls is only about an hour by either trolley or steam railroad, the traveler has practically the whole day at the Falls for sight-seeing.

The Falls are kaleidoscopic. That is, the impression which is made on the spectator varies not only as his mood varies, but also may be quite different from one viewpoint than it is from another. Indeed, there is an almost infinite number of the Falls of Niagara if one may speak of the sensation produced by the marvel instead of the physical aspects of the Cataract itself. The illumination of the Falls at night has added another wonderful feature to the glories of Niagara.

So it happens that many persons go to Niagara Falls frequently and find on each trip something which they had not seen before.

Of course, no one goes to Niagara without taking the exciting trip around the Gorge Route, for there is no better way to see Niagara Falls than by taking the Gorge trip, which covers all points of interest: The Whirlpool, Brock's Monument, Devil's Hole and the Whirlpool Rapids. The fare for this trip, 22 miles around and through the Gorge, with stops at points of interest, is $1.00.

For the accommodation of C. & B. Line patrons all tickets reading via N. Y. C. R. R. to Lewiston or beyond will be accepted on the Niagara Gorge Railway, between Niagara Falls and Lewiston, with no additional expense.

Nowadays, the great power plants by which the force of Niagara is harnessed to factory wheels hundreds of miles away attract many visitors and these works of man have added something perhaps to the interest of this spot where Nature worked so great a marvel.

BROCK'S MONUMENT

EASTERN SUMMER RESORTS

AVALANCHE PASS, ADIRONDACKS

THE tourist who has arrived at Buffalo from the West in search of a pleasant place for recreation may close his eyes and pick his route blindly, because any road he chooses will lead him to a region of delightful vacation possibilities.

Nature has served New York State bountifully with healthful and enjoyable places for rest and out-of-door life. Within a few hours ride from the C. & B. Line wharf are the lakes of Central New York, Cayuga, Seneca and the others, on the shores of which are many resorts. Watkins Glen, near Seneca Lake, is a spot which attracts many travelers, while the entire section abounds in beautiful towns, thriving cities and resorts, where fishing, boating, golf and other sports are to be enjoyed. Just as Niagara Falls provides new wonders every time it is visited, so does the trip down the Hudson River seem to have a new charm with each successive experience.

The Hudson River valley was the scene of many stirring events in the early history of the Colonies, and readers of Cooper's novels and of Washington Irving find that the recollection of those works enables them to enjoy the more the great natural charm of a beautiful trip.

Rip Van Winkle and the Catskills! The delightful legend comes vividly to mind, especially if one is fortunate enough to be in the mountains during a summer thunder shower. Then can he hear the rumble from the legendary bowling game and memory will carry him back to the delightful days of "readin' an' writin' an' 'rithmetic, learned to the tune of a hickory stick."

But this trip may be merely an incident on the way to even more enjoyable experiences. There is the whole East Jersey Coast with Atlantic City, Cape May and many other famous resorts; or, if one prefers New England, there indeed is a wide choice.

The Berkshires, the Green Mountains, the White Mountains, Maine Coast, Long Island Sound, Narragansett Bay, Cape Cod — that indeed, is a list from which one may select a summer visit in a simple cottage or in one of the most pretentious hotels in the world.

New England is, of course, a region of delight for students. What with Plymouth Rock, Faneuil Hall, Bunker Hill, Lexington, and scores more of places around which the history of the American colonies is woven, a trip through New England has the double attraction of great natural beauty coupled with historical associations. To go to New England is not only to see America first, but to see the land of the first Americans.

Another delightful trip is that from Buffalo through Lake Ontario and the Thousand Islands and down the St. Lawrence River. That is another section famous in song and story because of the border strife between the early French and English settlers, and is attractive to-day because of the preservation of its natural beauty and the facilities provided for whiling away vacation hours.

Toronto, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Saguenay, Lake Champlain, Lake George and a host of other points beckon to him who seeks an outing. And, while it may seem confusing, there is this redeeming feature, the choice of any one of these resorts is a safe choice.

One of the most exciting trips in the world is that down the St. Lawrence River. In its early stages just after leaving Lake Ontario the traveler has opportunity to enjoy some of the most pleasing scenery in the Western Hemisphere, as the steamer threads its way through the maze of the Thousand Islands.

Many, indeed, are the attractive points among the islands. Beautiful summer homes, simpler camps, great hotels are here in a profusion which proves the delightful nature of the section.

Alexandria Bay, one of the most popular American summering places, is only one of the many famous resorts along the river.

After the islands have been passed the tourist who is bound for some point farther down the river boards one of the large river steamers at Prescott.

The first of the famous rapids is a short distance below Prescott and from that point on the trip is an alternating succession of peaceful stretches and swift spurts through seemingly unnavigable waters. It is exhilarating — so exhilarating that a written description fails utterly to do it justice.

This trip leading, as it does, to Montreal and Quebec would be worth while even if it were not a joy in itself, but in reality going to those two interesting cities by way of the river voyage is like being rewarded highly for giving oneself a good time.

Northward in Canada from Toronto in the Muskoka, Kawartha, Algonquin Park and Timagami regions are scores of fascinating lake and river resorts where fishing, boating and out-of-door recreations of all sorts are to be enjoyed to the full amid surroundings unspoiled by commerce and industry.

This hurried mention of some of the principal possibilities before the traveler who is planning a summer trip is incomplete, of course, but

THE FAMOUS CEDAR POINT BEACH

CEDAR POINT AND PUT-IN-BAY

THE service of the C. & B. Line from Cleveland to Cedar Point and Put-in-Bay has been exceedingly popular in past years and will command an increasing patronage this season. The reason is apparent. The resorts are just far enough away to make the trip from Cleveland a pleasant day ride while the resorts themselves afford remarkable facilities for enjoyable outings.

Cedar Point is an ideal place for a stay of a day, a week, a month or a summer. It has the largest summer hotels on the Great Lakes, the three buildings providing accommodations for 10,000 guests, while its bathing beach is one of the finest fresh water beaches in the world. This beach is particularly safe for children, and is a delightful recreation spot for the whole family. The peninsula is heavily wooded and a network of several miles of natural and artificial lagoons and canals enables the visitor to take many a fascinating trip on the small pleasure craft which navigate these routes. Of popular amusement features there is no end at Cedar Point, the management having taken pains to make it a place of delight for all ages. As a place for conventions and organization outings Cedar Point is ideal. Bathing, dancing, out-door sports and the lake trip make such outings unusually enjoyable.

Put-in-Bay holds an equally prominent position as a Great Lakes summer resort. Its One Million Dollar Perry Memorial, recently completed, mammoth caves, fine bathing beach, Colonial pavilion, Government fish hatcheries and first-class hotels appeal strongly to throngs of vacation visitors each year. It is a delightful summer resort and has, also, points of the greatest historical interest.

A BUSY HAVEN, PUT-IN-BAY

PORT STANLEY, LONDON, AND ST. THOMAS, ONTARIO

THE steamer service of the Cleveland & Buffalo Transit Co. from Cleveland directly across Lake Erie to Port Stanley, Ontario, offers by far the most direct route and lowest fares between Cleveland and London, St. Thomas, and other points of southwestern Ontario.

Port Stanley, a beautiful Canadian summer resort, is the playground for St. Thomas, London and all surrounding towns. Besides magnificent natural advantages, it has many fine hotels and hundreds of cottages charmingly located for summer dwellings. Boating facilities are excellent while the fishing attracts hundreds of wise anglers from the States.

London, one of the principal cities of western Ontario, is twenty-four miles, and St. Thomas, another important city, nine miles from Port Stanley. Both cities are easily reached by two electric lines, maintaining hourly service from Port Stanley during the summer months. At London connection is made with the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk and Pere Marquette, and, at St. Thomas, with the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk, Pere Marquette and Wabash railroads.

For the benefit of fishermen and summer residents, the Port Stanley steamer leaving Cleveland every Friday night makes a stop at Rondeau every Saturday morning, and on the return trip to Cleveland calls at Rondeau every Wednesday. Rondeau is fifty-four miles from Cleveland, and its fame as one of the finest fishing resorts of all Canada is known to anglers far and near. Many Clevelanders maintain summer homes there.

TOURIST AUTOMOBILE SERVICE

THE Cleveland and Buffalo Transit Company has inaugurated a special service of great interest to automobile tourists. The new reduced two-day rate of $5.00 round trip for the transportation of tourists' motor cars not exceeding 127 inches wheelbase allows a two-days tour either from Cleveland or Buffalo, returning on Steamer the evening of the second day, at an unusually small cost.

TOURS EASTWARD FROM BUFFALO

The Western New York section is full of delights for travelers. There is Niagara Falls—only twenty-two miles from Buffalo with a beautiful boulevard the entire distance. East Aurora, home of the Roycrofters, is about sixteen miles through an attractive country. To Rochester is seventy miles, with improved roads the entire distance. Chautauqua Lake is a notable Mecca for motorists, while farther East lie Seneca, Cayuga, Oneida and other beautiful lakes that make Central New York justly famous with summer visitors. Geneva, Ithaca, Watkins Glen, Dansville, Syracuse are some of the best known of the pleasant towns of this region, but a complete list would be much too long for this space.

To those inclined towards longer trips, the Mohawk Valley, the Adirondacks, Catskills, New England, White Mountains and Maine are most interesting.

TOURS WESTWARD FROM CLEVELAND

Conversely this Car-by-Steamer service brings the Western Reserve and the adjacent district of Ohio close to motorists from eastern points. Cedar Point, the noted Lake Erie summer resort, is sixty miles from Cleveland by good roads. Akron is a short distance southwest. Oberlin, with its famous college, Wooster, another college town, Mansfield, Mount Vernon, and Canton—all lie within easy touring distance of Cleveland. Beyond these towns delightful highways lead to Columbus, Louisville, Indianapolis and many other attractive cities.

INFORMATION FOR TOURISTS

Gasoline.—The United States Government prohibits the carrying of gasoline on passenger steamers. Insurance Companies as well as City Ordinances will not allow gasoline to be stored in any large quantity on the wharves. This Company, therefore, will not accept any automobiles containing more than three gallons of gasoline unless owner waives right to all in excess of that quantity. All gasoline will be taken from car at point of shipment and upon arrival at destination each car will be supplied three gallons free of charge; except that no gasoline will be supplied by this company to automobiles moving under the $5.00 round-trip automobile rate. Gasoline may be obtained from dealers adjacent to the wharves.

GENERAL INFORMATION

RAILROAD TICKETS ACCEPTED

Purchasers of tickets from points west or south of Cleveland, reading over The New York Central Railroad or N. Y., C., & St. L. Railroad to Buffalo or points beyond, may use same on the steamers of the C. & B. Line between Cleveland and Buffalo without additional charge for transportation.

The same privilege is also given to passengers holding tickets from points east of Buffalo reading over The New York Central Railroad, or N. Y., C., & St. L. Railroad to Cleveland or points beyond.

Passengers holding tickets routed via The New York Central Railroad or N. Y., C., & St. L. Railroad, from a point west of Cleveland, with destination Buffalo or a point beyond, should notify conductor of train before arrival at Cleveland of their desire to take the steamer trip from Cleveland to Buffalo.

FREE SIDE TRIP AND TEN DAYS STOP-OVER AT NIAGARA FALLS

Passengers holding tickets reading C. & B. Line to Buffalo and rail to Rochester, Emporium Junction, Elmira or points East will be granted free side trip and ten days stop-over at Niagara Falls, if desired. This arrangement also applies to tickets with destination Hamilton or Toronto, Ontario, or beyond. To obtain this stop-over train conductor should be notified before reaching Niagara Falls and ticket deposited with agent of terminal line immediately upon arrival.

HUDSON RIVER BY STEAMBOAT

Passengers holding tickets reading New York Central R. R. or West Shore R. R., destination New York or beyond via New York will be granted the privilege of using same Albany to New York via Hudson River Steamers, either day or night line. Train conductor should be notified before reaching Albany of passengers desire to avail of this optional feature.

BAGGAGE

Baggage may be checked through to destination shown on your ticket, thus obviating the petty annoyances incident to transfer at junction points.

Uniformed agents of Miller Transfer Company, Buffalo, and Cleveland Transfer Company, Cleveland, meet all steamers and will transfer baggage from dock to hotels and residences at reasonable rates.

MEALS

Meals are served à la carte — prices as low as any café giving the same excellent service.

SECURE STATEROOMS IN ADVANCE

Berths or rooms are optional with the passenger and may be secured at local offices of this Company or by addressing the Company at Cleveland, Buffalo or Port Stanley, Ont.

Price of berths between Cleveland and Buffalo and Cleveland and Port Stanley: single upper berth, $1.00; double lower, $1.50; full stateroom, $2.50; parlors, $3.50 and $5.00; parlors with bath, $6.00 and up, each way.

Staterooms consist of single upper and double lower berth, and will accommodate three persons very comfortably. Single berths will not be sold for man and wife, who are required to purchase the entire stateroom.

Full stateroom will not be issued to passengers holding tickets for special excursions; at least two excursion passengers will be required for each stateroom.
